

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: August 6, 2025

We, the developers of Bracketly Lite, do not collect or store any of your data, including data in the application. All app data is accessible only on your device within the application itself. App Store views and download data is collected but is not associated with you or any other specific users.